TOBACCO

Little Doing On The Tobacco Market Last Week.

There was little doing in the tobacco market last week, owing to the dealers all observing the Christmas holidays. The only sale held during the week was the auction of 500 pounds of tobacco on Friday. The market for the New Year began.

This sold readily at full price, according to grade, ranging from $1.50 to $7.50; leaf at $12.00. No offerings or sales of the season were made and no receipts.

The steaming and packing plants will probably start running in a few days now, they having announced that they would start with the New Year. As yet their purchases have not been as large as usual, but with the better average prices prevailing and more evident disposition on the part of the farmers to crop, they will have a busy and active season.

LEGISLATURE TO START

Boats Today With Delegates at Frankfort To-day for Session of Legislature.

SENATORS TO BE Elected

Close Contest For Speakers Expected Between Terrill and Schoberth.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 4.—The Kentucky legislature will convene at Frankfort to-day for what is expected to be an important session. The Democrats who are in control of both houses and who elected a platform at the last election, for the first time in twelve years, are expected to several reforms. Among these are the withdrawal of the prison from public, revision of the tax system, adoption of the county unit, enactment of a road improvement law and the adoption of the direct primary.

A joint caucus, at which Congressman Olin James of the first congressional district, endorsed in the state primary, will be declared the party nominee for United States senator, has been called, through his election is assured.

The contest for the speakership between Claude Terrill and H. A. Schoberth is expected at this time with both claiming enough votes to win to-night.

Telegraph Still Coming In Asking That He Be Held In Custody.

J. M. B. has been charged with several offenses, including the murder of a woman, and is being held in custody. The case is being handled by the local authorities.

Telegrams have been coming in every day from other cities where he worked the same game. Besides Glasgow he worked Russellville and Pleasantville, Ky. Yesterday another telegram was received asking that he be held for the same offense at West Point, Miss.

Bowly is a rather nice looking young fellow, who protests his innocence of any intention to swindle, but has been in the toils of the law.

Not a Day in Bed.

Gramling, S. C.—In a letter from Gramling, Mrs. Lula Walden says: "I was so weak before I began taking Cardui, that it tired me just a little. Since taking it, I do all the house work for my family of nine, and have not been in bed a day. Cardui is the greatest remedy for women on earth." Weak women need Cardui. It is the ideal woman's tonic, because it is especially adapted for women's needs. It relieves backache, headache, dragging feelings, and other female misery. Try Cardui. A few doses will show you what it can do for you. It may be just what you want.

YOUNG DEER WAS ARRESTED

Fisherman With the Aid of a Rope Captured the Animal While in the Water.

Patrol wagons have queer passengers sometimes, but surely there was never a queerer one than the deer that the Boston police arrested. The deer was not much more than a fawn, or at least he had not been grown up for more than a few months. Perhaps that is why he got into such trouble. He was found out in Boston harbor, but how or why he got there he refused to tell.

A fisherman saw the animal first. The man was out in a motor boat when he saw something in the water that did not look like anything he had ever seen before. He steered toward it and found that it was a deer with antlers that rose above the water like branches of coral beneath the sea. The man threw a rope around the deer's horns and towed it to shore, and the police were called. They came with a patrol wagon, into which they loaded the frightened beast. The deer was taken to the police station and fed, and the newspapers were notified to find out who the owner was. It was thought that the deer had strayed from some private game preserve.

NEVER USED THE REVOLVER

Judge Carried One Unpacked Through West and Then New York Burglar Stole It.

A group of New Yorkers on their way to New Brunswick for the mouse hunting season were discussing the new firearms law. A well-known justice of the supreme court admitted that he was so doubtful about the scope of the law that he had sneaked away from his apartments in a taxicab with his rifles carefully concealed from the eyes of passing policemen.

"Which reminds me," he said, and the crowd settled down in peace, for the justice was a great story teller. "Of my first trip to the west, more years ago than I like to think of. The west was wild and woolly then as I viewed it, so my slender luggage included a revolver to use against hostile Indians and outlaws. The trip was peaceful enough to suit anybody and that gun was never unpacked. When I got back to my New York flat I put it away in a bureau drawer thinking it might come in handy some day. And then I'll be hanged if a burglar didn't get into my rooms in a week or so and pinch that gun."

KILLED SWORDFISH WITH RIFLE.

When Capt. Fred Nickerson of the fishing schooner Pontiac reached the wharf at Boston the other day, he proudly exhibited a 450-pound swordfish which was pierced behind the left gill with a rifle bullet.

Captain Nickerson was fishing in the South channel, and upon seeing a good sized swordfish he determined to substitute the rifle for a fly rod. One bullet performed the deed and the prized fish rolled over with a great flapping of its tail and was hauled on deck. This is the first time that a swordfish has been killed in the South channel.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly.

No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The great Presidential campaign will soon begin and you will want the news accurately and promptly. The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-a-Week World abounds in other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, cartoons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first-class daily.

THE THRICE A WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

Value of Contentment.

A contented mind is the greatest blessing a man can enjoy in this world, and in the present life, his happiness arises from enjoying his lot.

RULES FOR RIGHT LIVING

Frederick Harrison, Who is Alive at Eighty, gives the following on Subject.

Frederick Harrison, barrister, his last birthday, published, possibly the last will woman's testament, celebrated his eightieth birthday recently in London. In spite of his great age, Mr. Harrison is still sane and hearty, and his intellectual activity is occasionally evidenced in acutely reasoned letters to the press. A self-disciplinarian, he attributes his physical and mental fitness to the rigid observance of his own Spartan "rules of life." Here they are: "Touch not tobacco, spirit, nor any unclean thing. Rise from every meal with an appetite. Walk daily two hours. Sleep nightly seven hours. Be content with what you have."

Playing cards and tobacco are Mr. Harrison's aversions. "Men and women," he says, "who are too dull to take pleasure in talk, too ignorant to read, too lazy to dance, deaf to music, blind to art, unable to keep themselves awake, betake themselves to cards." As for his Lady Nicotine, he cannot find words strong enough to denounce her with. Smoking is "a beastly disease," to be shunned on grounds medical, moral, social and aesthetic.

Mr. Harrison, however, is better known as the greatest living disciple of Auguste Comte than as a social Don Quixote. His presidential addresses to the Positivist society are said by good judges to contain some of the finest "high thinking" in the English language. In view of these and other virtues, people here are proud to hail him a grand old Londoner, born and educated within the sound of the bells of Bow.

CRAFTY PRELUDE OF SHOPPER

Preliminary Skirmish by Which She Insures Best Service When Real Campaign Begins.

Chicago people certainly have the knack of getting on," a shopper said. "In the suit department of a big store I met a Chicago woman who had been in Philadelphia less than a week. She said she wasn't buying anything; had just come to get the lay of the land. In the process of getting it she stopped a cash girl and said:

"Is that Miss Blake selling white linen skirts to that fat woman? I understand you have a Miss Blake in this department."

"No, that is Miss Barton," said the cash girl.

"This Chicago woman wrote the name in her address book. Then she showed me the names of saleswomen in several other stores."

"This is only a preliminary to real shopping," she said. "It pays me to take the extra trouble. If I expect to buy more than $5 worth of anything at a strange store I learn beforehand the names of the saleswomen whose looks I like best."

The Moral.

Prof. John Spencer Bassett, author of "A Life of Andrew Jackson," is accustomed to illustrate his lectures at Smith college with incidents in American history. On one occasion he repeated a well-known story in regard to Stephen A. Douglas, closing with a moral which aroused peculiar interest.

Douglas, as a narrative runs, was once sitting in a profound sleep in the corridor of the capitol when Adeline Cutts, a Washington belle, passed by. She did not know the sleeper, but was struck with compassion on seeing such a splendidly intellectual face under such conditions, and stooping down laid her handkerchief over it to protect it from the flies. Douglas on awakening found the handkerchief, sought the owner, and eventually married her. There was a pause, and then the professor added: "You ladies, the moral of this story is: Have your pocket handkerchief marked."

Water Elephants in Africa.

The scientific world is still discussing the reported discovery of a new mammal in the Congo state, a mammal known to the natives as the "water elephant." M. Le Petit of the Paris Museum of Natural History recently reported that he saw five of these animals plunging into the water on the northern shore of Lake Leopold the Second. He stated that they appeared to have shorter bodies, smaller ears, and relatively longer necks than ordinary elephants, and apparently were not possessed of trunks. He estimated their height at about six feet. It has been pointed out that the description of the water elephant accords almost exactly with Dr. Andrews' restoration of the Palaomastodon, a creature which dwelt in the Fayum in the lower tertiary age.

His Mistake.

"Say, there's a page of this China special stuff missing. Anybody seen it?"

"Wh! What was it?"

"Why, a lot of the leading insurance companies."

Scalded With His Life.

"Twenty-one years ago I found an awful death," writes Dr. W. H. Martin, Port Harrison, S. C. "I had a cold and a cough and had been sick for a long time. I had everything I could get, but it didn't do any good. I was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C. for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." Its positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, and all bronchial affections. 50c & $1.00. Trial bottle free at all druggists.

Scalded to Death.

Bowling Green, Ky. Dec. 29.—Ben Cophmiller, aged seventy-eight, was killed in an accident at the mines near here. He was running an engine, which turned over, scalding him to death.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back, if not satisfied. Only 50c at all druggists.

Ends Winter's Troubles

To many, winter is a season of trouble. The frost bitten toes and fingers, chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold-sores, red and rough skins, prove this. But such troubles fly before Bucklen's Arnica Salve. A trial convinces. Greatest healer of Burns, Boils, Piles, Cuts, Sores, Bruises, Eczema and Sprains. Only 25c at all druggists.

Judge Black Chosen.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 29.—The tip is out here that Attorney General-elect James G. Gurnett has selected Judge James D. Black, of Barbourville, as first Assistant Attorney General of Kentucky and that Judge Black will accept the post.

Parson's Poem a Gem.

From Rev. H. Stubenvoll, la., in praise of Dr. King's New Life Pills. "They're such a health necessity. In every home these pills should be. If other kinds you've tried in vain, USE DR. KING'S And be well again." Only 25c at all druggists.

DIAMONDS BECOMING SCARCE.

Two explanations of the advancing prices of diamonds are given. First, the syndicate controlling the rough diamond market limits production in order to increase its profits. Second, the yield of the diamond mines, as a whole, is decreasing; the Kimberly mine is virtually exhausted of the best stones. These explanations are given according to the respective viewpoint of the parties who offer them.

"Had dyspepsia or indigestion for years. No appetite, and what I did eat distressed me terribly. Burdock's Blood Bitters cured me."—J. H. Walker, Sunbury, Ohio.

Appendix a Waste Basket.

One of New York's biggest scientific surgical clippers has often found toothbrush bristles in a patient's appendix. Two years after midnight yesterday he operated on a man at most at the point of death, taking out the appendix, which was as big as a deerfoot. In it was a pin all crusted over. For some people the appendix seems to be a waste basket.

Caution causes, headache, nervousness, languor, heart palpitation. Drastic physics gripes, weakens the bowels and don't cure. Dr. King's Kidney Pills act gently on the constitution. 25 cents.

The Rush of Business

"Oh, I never will get this Christmas list made out!" said the little shopkeeper, impatiently, as she hastily threw her notebook into a drawer and grabbed materials to answer the bumper that was getting frantic. "This is the worst time I've barely got it started when some one wants to write his friend that he enjoyed the dinner he took with him yesterday or wishes to inform some one whom he never saw and never will see that he received his valued favor—which he never even read through—but though he can do absolutely nothing for him he begs, most ardently, to remind him that—and so on! Huh! Talk about women gush tag!"

The bookkeeper turned an appreciative countenance toward her and prepared to listen.

"Oh, buzz on!" she exclaimed crossly, as the summons became still more imperative. "I'm engaged for a while yet!" And she snapped a rubbed band across the buzzer, to deaden the noise.

"Actually, there aren't ten letters a day that are absolutely necessary," she declared. "There's a lot of folderol, that passes back and forth, and gets filed as business, though it is simple waste of time and postage. When the men receive the letters they realize what rubbish they are and laugh at them. But when they get started dictating they like the sound of their own voices!"

"Why," and she gave her notebook an angry fling, "this thing here, I warrant, has about one page in ten filled with business that needed to be transacted! The rest is gush and affection! And yet the men pride themselves on their quickness and their lack of red tape and their ability to cope with big situations. And you won't find one man in a dozen who doesn't make supercilious remarks about detail and say that he hasn't time to attend to that—that's what he keeps clerks for!"

"I heard Mr. Brown this morning tell his wife over the phone that he simply couldn't get home to her luncheon, he was so busy—his desk was simply piled with work. He was very sorry, but business had to come before pleasure and she'd please make his excuses to the guests and so on—all that rot."

"Well, I expected a busy day when I heard that and so I prepared for rapid dictation. Well, what did I get? To one man he wrote that the matter was on his desk and as soon as he had time he'd look it over and write him in detail, which he begged leave to trust was satisfactory! And to another he wrote that business, as he very likely knew, wasn't what it might be and therefore he wouldn't be able to go into the matter, but he might in some months' time—perhaps—with which he trusted he might sign himself very sincerely! And to another that he was in doubt as to the advisability of taking out such and such a paper, just at present, but after due consideration he would write him further, and he desired, with great gusto, to subscribe himself his obliged friend. And so on through the whole list! Why, there wasn't a letter that couldn't have been done away with altogether, let alone being put off until after his wife's luncheon!"

"But all those letters made him think he was a very busy man and I've no doubt that he thinks he's indispensable to the company!"

"Some day I'm going to run off a lot of form letters, saying that I'm very sorry, but I haven't yet had time to look into the matter, but will write further when time permits. I think it makes the men feel good to tell people they are too busy to think. Perhaps it might be well for me to offer my services as thinker for them!"

"They all know that they'll decide against whatever matter it is that keeps pending! It's a hypocritical attitude, to say the least. They pretend to themselves that they're busy. They pretend to the man to whom they write that the matter really interests them and that they're really going to discuss it, and think it over, when they know they aren't even going to look at it again! And they pretend to the company that they're doing business eight hours a day! And then they'll go home and pretend to their wives that they've had a hard day!"

"Oh, I've known too much of them ever to marry one of them! Marriage is purely a confidence game, as I see it, and when you lose confidence—or start in without any—marriage is sure to be a failure!"

"Yes, yes, I'm coming as fast as I can!" She moved toward the door. Then she turned a smiling countenance to the bookkeeper.

"Here," she said, good naturedly, "just remember that what I said was all fancy. Perhaps those men do a lot of pretending, but if you listen carefully you'll hear my own sweet voice telling Mr. Jacobs, in one minute how extremely sorry I am that I was delayed and that it was unavoidable! And do you know, I'd be fearfully angry if they dared tell me to me that I didn't earn my salary or that I wanted a lot of valuable time just hearing myself talk!"

THREE THINGS YOU NEED..

First—
"Kentuckian"
A very new newspaper with the latest of the entire community at heart. Issues of the day are handled with the latest of the entire community at heart. Issues of the day are handled with the latest of the entire community at heart.

Second—
Technical World Magazine
is the one magazine that not only entertains in a fascinating manner, but which also instructs. It is the magazine for the busy business man, or for the person who wants to tell away a summer's afternoon, and be intelligently informed at the same time. It is profusely illustrated, and tells in a simple and interesting way of the discoveries of scientists, the achievements of inventors, the feats of engineers and explorers, and the opening of every new field of human endeavor.

Third—
A Fine Atlas
This one is just off the presses. This is the year to obtain a new atlas. The 1910 Census has just been completed, this atlas contains the official figures, 128 pages of 8 color maps brought right down to date—every map giving the results of the most recent surveys. All railroads are shown and named and maps of all large cities are included. There are 21 double page maps showing in detail portions of the U. S. and Canada. Dimensions 10"x13". Bound in stiff linen—Silver Leaf Title—printed on heavy plate paper. Sells regularly for $3.00. A splendid gift.

ALL THREE Only $3.80

Special arrangement with Technical World Magazine and the publishers of this Atlas make this offer possible. But it is very strictly limited. You must act immediately.

AN EXCUSE FOR HUSBANDS

Disgrace of Women Who Have Failed to Keep Their Husbands from Drunkenness and Immorality.
A woman and of great moral ability, who has been the victim of a husband's drunkenness and immorality, has written a book which is a masterpiece of logic and reason. It is a book which every woman who has been the victim of a husband's drunkenness and immorality should read. It is a book which every woman who has been the victim of a husband's drunkenness and immorality should read.

"I have been spending a good deal of time lately at the domestic relations court," she said in elucidation of her statement concerning the overfrightened young man, "and I have learned that in a great majority of cases the man 40 or thereabouts who has grown tired of his wife, because her beauty has faded and refuses to support her any longer, so that she has to appeal to the courts, was compelled to go to work when he was thirteen or fourteen to help maintain his parents or brothers and sisters. By the time he reaches middle life his moral muscles, which were strained and stretched beyond their proper capacity when they were still soft and untrained, have become feeble, if they haven't snapped entirely, and he can't be depended upon for anything."

Mrs. Austin admitted that what she had just said wasn't generally known, but she added that it was nevertheless absolutely true. She was sure of it, because she had spent 20 years studying just such problems.

GERMAN KNEW THE PIECE

Amusing Incident in Campaign to Encourage Respect for the National Anthem.

Mrs. William G. Boyd of Kingsbury place, an enthusiastic member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and former chairman of the Missouri state song committee, is directly responsible for the new order requiring all public concerts in this city to be concluded with "The Star Spangled Banner." During a talk with Park Commissioner Davis, in which the lack of respect shown the national air by St. Louisans in public places was deplored, Mrs. Boyd suggested a campaign of education as a remedy for the existing conditions. She is still laughing over the results of the attempt. She and her husband, with Commissioner Davis, visited Carr square on the evening of the first band concert, after the new order went into effect, thinking to see in the polyglot audience there a typical example of "the masses' familiarity with the national air."

As soon as the first notes sounded the men in the party removed their hats, but all were alert for developments around them. Nobody appeared to notice the music except one big German, who gave vent to several disgusted grunts as it proceeded. Thinking to test him, Mr. Davis asked if he knew what that piece was.

"Know him? Ain't I a Cherman? Dot's 'Die Wacht am Rhein,' but mein Gott, how dey plays him!"—St. Louis Times.

Fashion is Fashion.
"Why do all the women walk like ducks this year?" was the question put to a friend of mine, years since, by a younger brother.
He did not know that a quite new kind of corset had suddenly, during the summer months, "come in." To wear it meant change of gait and posture, eventually actual change of shape. Yet we all wore it—and doubtless went on praising the Venus of Melos as we did so.

Business is business," men are credited with saying, when invited to apply abstract laws of honor. "Fashion is fashion," women would surely say if invited to apply abstract laws of beauty.—Atlantic.

Friend of Dumas.
There lives at St. Die, France, in a little commune near Rebaupal an old woman of good figure and undimmed eye, notwithstanding the fact that she was borne 111 years ago. Centenarians are not at all uncommon about the Vosges. Her name is Mme. Viry and for a long period she was in the service of Alexandre Dumas pere.

She has many recollections of the time spent at the house of the author of the "Trois Mousquetaires," and she describes Dumas as an excellent man but very fond of a good dinner, food being his specialty.

Grape Pickers.
Picking grapes is a temporary but popular occupation in the vineyard district of New York and Pennsylvania. Many girls and women from the villages in the grape belt pick in the vineyards year after year. For out door work, this is especially strengthening coming, as it does, in the perfect days of September and October. Moreover, it is an employment to which considerable dignity attaches, due to the class of persons who have for a generation associated themselves with it. It is not taxing, it serves the purpose of an outing, there is no watchful task-master and it is good for cash for a fall and winter outfit.

ONLY ONE 'BEST'

Hopkinsville People Give Credit Where Credit Is Due.

People of Hopkinsville who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best endorsed is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, and one that is backed by willing people of this locality. Here's a case:

Clifton Hammond, Cadiz, Ky., says: "For two years I was afflicted with kidney complaint and I am pleased to say that Doan's Kidney Pills cured me permanently. I had a severe pain in the small of my back and whenever I stooped or lifted, sharp twinges caused me great misery. My back ached at night and in the morning was very lame and sore. I was easily tired, often felt dull and languid and at times became very nervous. Headaches were also common and these were occasionally accompanied by dizzy spells. The kidney secretions contained sediment and were too frequent in passage, causing me to rise several times at night. If I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and greatly aggravated my trouble. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a box and began their use. Since that time I have felt like a different man, my kidneys were strengthened so that I do not have to rise at night and I feel better in every way. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a good kidney remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Laugh Earned Reward.
"I can't for the life of me see what a brilliant fellow like Skribbs saw to admire in that woman he married."

"It wasn't what he saw so much as what he heard."

"What do you mean?"

"I guess you never heard that merry laugh of hers."

"Do you mean to say that a brainy man would marry a woman just because she had a merry laugh?"

"Well—yes. Didn't you know that Skribbs was a joke writer?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Holiday Gift.

One of the handsomest pieces of art work that has ever been gotten up is "The Bride," a beautiful lithograph calendar for 1912. It is lithographed in fifteen colors and is a perfect reproduction of one of the finest oil paintings ever produced in this country. This calendar shows every detail of the original and could not be distinguished from it except by experts. Sold in the regular way, it would cost a nice sum, but the publishers of the National Stockman and Farmer, of Pittsburgh, Penn'a, have purchased 100,000 of these handsome pieces of art and will send them to any one who will send 10 cents in silver to cover packing and postage. Under this favorable offer "The Bride" should be in the hands of every reader of this paper. Address as above.

Memory Training for Witnesses.
It has been suggested that it would be a good plan for courts to enforce a loss of memory cure upon a large number of the witnesses who make their appearance in some of the big cases. Perhaps the correspondence schools would make a reduction for job lots and cut down on the fee.

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks 1912 Almanac.

Before the great drouth of 1901, the Hicks Almanac gave timely warning. For over two years prior to 1911, the Hicks Almanac again sounded a warning of drouth danger. And so for forty years this same friend of all the people has steadfastly refused the offers of speculators and continued to warn the public of the coming dangers of storm and weather. As they should have done, the people have nobly stood by Professor Hicks, their faithful public servant, who has grown old in their service. Send only one dollar to WORD AND WORK PUBLISHING COMPANY, 3401 Franklin Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, and get his Magazine and Almanac both for one year. The Almanac alone, a fine book of 150 pages, is only 35c. by mail. Let everybody respond and receive the warning of our National Seer for the coming year.

As I then, without hearing the remark, proceed to make that move, should I feel belittled to have the expert announce that it was foretold? Should I feel that having supposed my act to be one of freedom, I had now been deprived of something precious and myself degraded into a mere thing? On the contrary, I should probably feel much flattered and congratulate myself on being known to be a player guided by law. Evidently, then, as personally enlarges, conduct becomes more predictable. That was the impressive lesson taught me by this striking case.—G. H. Palmer in "The Problem of Freedom."

REMNANT OF THE ACADIANS

Small Group of Magdalen Islands
Populated by Descendants of Those Unfortunate People.

Up in the center of the Gulf of St. Lawrence the small group of Magdalen islands are populated by three or four thousand lineal descendants of the Acadians under Champlain and De Monts, who were driven out of New France, Nova Scotia, by the English.

Since the first settlement in 1762 generations of the same families have raised scanty crops in the valleys and fed sheep and cattle on the high, conical hills which constitute a prominent feature of an insular landscape. Year after year men have gone out on the waters of the gulf in search of the cod, mackerel and lobsters on which a livelihood depends. They are a simple, primitive people, these natives of the Magdalens, laboring all the while under circumstances that are most discouraging.

The archipelago contains 12 or 13 distinct islands, including several grim rocks which are not inhabited and never will be. But the remarkable feature about the physical formation of the whole group is the way in which one island is in some instances connected with another by a long stretch of sandy beach, enabling a person, if he desires to do so, to go for a score of miles or more along the most barren shore in the world, one that is uninhabited and unrelieved by vegetation of any kind, and the only animal life being the thousands of gulls, terns, gannets and other sea fowl which are extremely numerous in all this region.

As to Adhesive Postage Stamps.
Rowland Hill had nothing to fear from enlightened officers of health foreboding that "stamp licking" would "disseminate consumption, diphtheria, smallpox and scarlet fever." It is reunackable to recall with what enthusiasm the public took to stamp licking in 1840. The adhesive stamp seems to have been only an after-thought of the great postal reformer, whose original proposal covered only the sale of ready-stamped envelopes. Even when he admitted the adhesive stamp as an alternative, he thought it would be "reserved for exceptional cases." But, in spite of newspaper jeers at "bits of sticking plaster for dabbling on the letters the public soon showed its mind. The stamped Mulready envelope proved a dead failure, while for weeks the supply of "sticking plaster" fell far below its demand.

Streets With Long Names.

"Using the letters of the alphabet and numbers to designate streets is called here," says a Berlin letter, "the American style," and the introduction of the system has many advocates, but apparently these have no voice in the matter, because the popular idiosyncrasy, be it moral, scientific or commercial, still has the first call. Many of the names are exasperatingly long, and when we think that the most impossible one has been discovered we always find another just a little bit worse. Recently we saw two letters addressed to Vienna—one to a person in Klosterneuburggasse, and the other to a correspondent in Mariaburggasse. How much time would be saved if these streets were numbered or lettered!"

Proof Enough.

"The climate of heaven has been determined by two youthful philosophers," announced George Arliss, who is appearing in Diarsall. "While passing along a muddy street the other morning I heard a little chap say to his sister:

"It don't ever rain in heaven, does it, May?"

"In heaven it does, ye know, May!" the girl replied. "There's where it's all bound to rain, ain't it?"

The Rayo Lamp is the best and most worthwhile lamp you can find for any part of your home.

It is made of polished brass. Its design, which is of the modernist type, is beautiful. And it never flickers.

If it does flicker, or if the light is not just the best that is now obtainable, it is a waste of money and a disfigurement to your home. So, for best economy or for best appearance, choose the Rayo.

The Rayo is made of the finest materials and is made in America and finishes. Easily the best who ever shall be made in this new era.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write to the Standard Oil Company (Inc.)

American Flag Shot Down

Russia is in complete possession of Trabliz, Persia. The reports of atrocities on both sides are said to be untrue. A Russian shell fell on the American flag over the consulate. England will send more Indian troops to guard the trade routes. The Russians are said to have lost 100 to 200 men during the nine days' siege. Mr Shuster will be given safe passage through Russia.

Capt. A. G. Chapman, of the Lyceum Bureau, has closed a contract for a lecture by Dr. Frederick Cook, the arctic explorer, at the Tabernacle, January 22.

Summit, N. C.—In a letter received from this place, Mr. J. W. Church, the notary public, says: "My wife had been ailing for nearly 12 years, from female ailments, and at times was unable to leave the house. She suffered agony with her side and back. We tried physicians for years, without relief. After these treatments all failed, she took Cardui, and gained in weight at once. Now she is red and rosy as a school girl." Cardui, as a tonic for women, has brought remarkable results. It relieves pain and misery and is the best tonic for young and old. Try it. At Druggists.

WEALTH IN HER WEEK-ENDS

How Widowed Society Woman Has Managed to Make Entertaining
Pay Very Well.

Not long ago a charming society woman was thrown high and dry on the barren shores of reduced circumstances by the death of her husband, who left her almost penniless. This suited her not at all, so being clever she thought and planned until she hit upon a money-making scheme very near affluence. This is how she "arrived."

A year ago she leased a charming place on Long Island, hired an efficient corps of servants, a fine chef, stocked the larder with the best in the market, and then sent out cards to her friends and acquaintances that she was prepared to entertain them for a day or two or three, at so much per entertainment.

The idea caught on at once. Within a few weeks her modest menage was so overrun that those who wished to spend the time from Saturday to Monday had to make their arrangements weeks in advance.

No one without the best of reference was admitted. Mrs. Widow managed affairs admirably. Everything was up to date, and yet informally formal, so to speak.

Her season lasted from October to June, since when she has been taking things easy, with plenty of money and the owner of an automobile, hired at the beginning of a "shoe-string."

She's now making arrangements for the coming season, and is already booked up to the holidays.

SHE NEEDED THE EXERCISE

How Man Dodged Criticism for Allowing Lady of Ample Proportions to Row Him.

Allen had been visiting friends on their houseboat, moored off Edgewater, on the Jersey side. When it came time to leave Mr. and Mrs. Wilson volunteered to row Allen and Miss Wilson, sister of the husband, to a dock near the Fort Lee ferry.

Mrs. Wilson and Miss Allen are of ample proportions, and Allen didn't like the idea of allowing his hostess to row, especially as it was rough and the tide was coming in. So he protested. "No, I must row," he said.

"Couldn't think of it," returned Mrs. Wilson smiling. "I need the exercise, you know. I don't get exercise on the houseboat." And she had taken the second pair of oars and settled herself in the seat behind her husband before Allen could bestow himself and baggage and assist Miss Wilson to a seat in the stern.

"What will those fishermen think of me, allowing a woman to row me?" he protested. "I'm going to explain it to them as we pass. I don't want to get in bad."

Sure enough as the boat passed the fishermen on the piers Allen called out: "The lady needs exercise!" And the fishermen, appreciating the situation, grinned, and by their demeanor indicated they absolved Allen from appearing to take it easy.—New York Herald.

Why We Shake Hands.

A writer in the New York Sun has unearthed the following explanation of a common custom:

How many of us, for instance, know why friends shake hands when they meet? The Chinese are said to shake their own hands in greeting, with an air of cordial delight. Why do people of the so-called civilized nations prefer to shake each other by the hand? We are told that it is an old Roman custom, spread by the Romans throughout the countries of their dominion. Shaking hands means, "You are my friend. Believe it for the excellent reason that if you were not I should draw my sword. And how could I draw my sword with my shield upon my left arm and my right hand firmly clasped in yours?" So when we shake hands we are merely saying in the pantomime of ancient Rome: "There is peace and good will between us, for our swords are in their scabbards."

Care of the Eyes.

If a woman has the slightest difficulty with her sight, she should lose no time in consulting an oculist. Nothing will bring undesirable crows' feet more quickly than straining the eyes, and local treatment to prevent the lines will be inefficacious if the seat of the trouble is not attended to. It is far better to wear glasses when sewing and writing than to let the whole face have a drawn and aged look.

Of course, massaging about the corners of the eyes will make a tremendous improvement in a woman's appearance, but the work will be without results unless she does it regularly every night. Also, if she is trying to smooth away crows' feet, she must remember that stroking is not to be done so severely as to loosen the skin, which would cause bagginess, but merely that friction is to stimulate circulation, nourishing the skin tissues.

Economy of Nature.

"Nature knew what she was doing when she deprived fishes of a voice." "How do you make that out?" "What of a fish had to cackle over every egg it laid?"

Naturally.

"Beauty doctors are superficial." "Why are they?" "Because they always take pains to hide their face value."

IS PROTECTING ITS INDIANS

Government of Brazil Treats Them
With Solicitude and the Results Are Good.

The Brazilian government appears to have found a way of dealing with its Indians which is altogether different from that so extensively employed in North America where the "civilizers" proceeded on the assumption that "all good Indians are dead Indians."

"The government of Brazil," says L'Etolle du Sud of Rio de Janeiro, "is always occupied with more or less solicitude in the amelioration of the lot of the natives, who are yet numerous in a great part of the country. In a short space of time the most encouraging results have been obtained. A great number of tribes, protected by the administration, are becoming civilized little by little. The result of this is an increased production of cultivated foods offering superior advantages to an industry, consisting only of hunting and fishing, which has been the sole resource of many indigenous tribes. In the state of Parana the Indians belonging for the most part to the nation of the Calicangus are cultivating their lands in maize, rice and sweet potatoes. The natives of the valley of the river Tibagy have recently constructed five sugar mills, very crude, it is true, but nevertheless a great step in their progress."

SAN SALVADOR'S NAME LOST

Identity of Island on Which Columbus First Landed Is No Longer Certain.

San Salvador is perhaps the most interesting historical point on the American side of the world, as it is the island upon which Columbus first landed. Yet it has lost its name. In view of the history not only of the Bahamas group, but of the American continents as well, it is far from surprising that the identity of the famous island should have been long lost; or that the re-identification should have been delayed until the middle of the last century, when Captain Becher of the British navy, by application of the description, contained in Columbus' journal, to the course from Gomera to the Bahamas, determined clearly that Watling's island alone met all requirements of the case.

To Brighten the Eyes.

Bright eyes are among the most radiant of beauty's jewels, since they give animation and light to the entire face. A dull eye means a heavy, drooping expression, a condition to be avoided by the employment of extreme measures on the part of the girl who would attract.

A harmless and generally satisfactory way to bring brightness to the eyes is to bathe them with a solution of boric acid and tepid water. Put in a basin full of tepid water as much boric acid as can be placed on a dime. When it has entirely dissolved bathe the eyes gently. Do not be afraid to allow the water to get into the eye, as it will remove all inflammation and tend to make this important beauty feature clear and brilliant, at the same time giving a restful and strengthening effect.

Impervious to Hard Knocks.

All stories about the hardness of negroes' skulls were put into the rack-ground by two happenings which occurred the other day. Following a quarrel, a negro, Henry Lewis, was shot four times in the head at a range of less than five feet. After penetrating the flesh the bullets flattened and dropped to the floor. The man was taken to hospital, but was soon permitted to go to his home. His assailant escaped. Another colored man, William Puffen, while harnessing a mule, was kicked on the head and knocked down. Getting to his feet, he discovered the mule lying on the ground. Examination showed that its leg was broken. Puffen was taken to the Germantown hospital, where six stitches were put in his scalp.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Happy Microbe.

The microbe is tenacious of life, for Migula found the bacillus leposporus placed on a sheet of glass lived for five years. Germs of potato disease sealed in a tube were living after a period of eight years. In 1879 Ball, of Prague, after a lapse of eighteen years, infected a mouse fatally with some bacilli. Nestler investigated a clod of earth stored in a herbarium for over half a century, and found 89,200 living spores to the gramme. Some earth wrapped in paper since 1824, and protected from atmospheric germs, showed on examination 19,000 bacteria to the gramme. Eighty-seven years is a ripe age even for a microbe.

Continuous Tungsten.

After three years' research work, a British concern has succeeded, so it is said, in producing tungsten in such a form that it could be drawn into a continuous wire one-thousandth of an inch in diameter, used in any length or bent to any shape. At the same time its tensile strength has been increased.

Electric tungsten has only been produced in short lengths. The new discovery makes it possible to use a continuous wire in the lamp, so that the risk of breakage is reduced to a minimum and the life of the lamp considerably extended.

GIVEN RANDOLPH

Former Colored Councilman
Honored by His Friends

Their appreciation of the life and work and the esteem and confidence in which he is held by his friends were shown in the complimentary address given in honor of Ex-Councilman M. W. Glass last Friday evening at Friendship Hall. It was the most elaborate affair ever given by the colored people of the city. Many out-of-town visitors were present including Wm. H. Stewart, editor the "American Baptist," Louisville; Rev. Dr. P. H. Kennedy and Dr. Jas. G. Chandler of Henderson, the latter being the son of the councilman. An elegant supper was served with the following menu: Oyster soup, sliced turkey with oyster dressing and cranberry sauce, French fried potatoes and French peas, beaten biscuit, celery, ice cream, cake, coffee, fruits and cigars. After dinner eloquence and oratory abounded, all complimentary to the life of E. W. Glass. Ned Turner, J. T. Whitney, Lewis Berry, Peter Boyd, Wm. H. Stewart, Rev. R. L. Bayless, Wm. Lunderman, Rev. P. H. Kennedy each spoke upon some phase of his life and work. Then followed the presentation, by the colored Attorney C. W. Merriweather, on behalf of the colored citizens of Hopkinsville, of a beautiful gold medal to the ex-councilman. His speech was a fine piece of wit and eloquence. The recipient was visibly affected, and responded in a neat and feeling speech.

SOLVING THE TIP PROBLEM

At Least, One Man Thought He Had, But He Time There Came a Great Awakening.

"To my own satisfaction I had solved the tip problem," said the man. "When we took refuge in a hotel during the renovation of our home house I said: 'Hundreds for legitimate expenses, but not one cent for graft.' From the moment we struck the hotel sidewalk I adhered valiantly to that policy. In vain did waiters, cabmen and porters extend an itching palm and impudently with hungry glances. I resolutely kept my hand out of my pocket, with results astonishing even to myself. Instead of the neglect that had been prophesied as inevitable, servants embarrassed us with lavish attentions. I grew vainglorious. 'See,' I crowed, 'That is the way to manage these fellows. Just make them understand that you don't intend to tip, and they will give you decent service without it. If everybody would pursue that policy the tip evil would soon be abolished.' 'Yesterday we moved back to our own house amid the salaams of the hotel crew. To the last I stuck to my guns, but I fancied that I noticed a suspicious movement of my wife's hand toward her purse. 'Did you tip?' said I indignantly. 'Certainly,' she said serenely. 'How do you suppose we could have endured living there these two weeks if I hadn't been tipping all the time?'"

BOY WAS BOUND TO RISE

Originality Displayed in Early Youth Marked Him as One Destined for High Position.

O. S. Marden was talking at a dinner in New York about his specialty, success. "Initiative, originality," he said, "go far to make success. I'll illustrate that. A little boy—he's a multi-millionaire today—entered the office of a great insurance company, asked to see the president, was ushered in, and said: 'Mr. President, my father's life is insured in your company. He's very sick and we can't afford a doctor. Don't you think it would pay you to get a doctor for him?' 'The president smiled. 'How much is he insured for, my child?' ' '$2,500, sir.' 'And what is his name?' 'John E. Brown, sir.' 'The president whispered to his stenographer, and then, putting the youngster on the spot, he said: 'Run on home. You'll find the doctor there on your arrival.' 'And the upshot was,' concluded Dr. Marden, 'that John E. Brown recovered, and the company escaped a possible loss of $2,500. The boy, I was told, had had no reliance on his initiative. Is it any wonder he became a millionaire?'"

Municipal Stores Next.

Portland, Oregon, Jan. 1.—A new Oregon idea was born here with the taking of preliminary steps toward a municipal store. The City Council authorized Mayor Bushright to appoint a committee of business men to conduct a series of co-operative shops, where the profits would be distributed among the shareholders—the public.

The plan is to sell stock in the concern at $25 a share, with the proviso that no individual may own more than one share. Stockholders share profits and purchasers will have deducted from their bills a part of the store's earnings. If the plan succeeds here, it will be established in other Oregon cities. The object is to reduce the cost of living.

Anton Johansen, O. A. Twitmore and J. E. Munsey, three labor leaders, are at Los Angeles for conference with the McNamara, and reported to be ready to confer and officers expect a finale to this case equally as startling as that of the McNamara trial and similar in nature. The case will be reopened today.

Real Negro Minstrels Coming

Those fond of good singing dancing, music and old plantation melodies will find it all during the performance of Lowery & Morgan's Mighty Minstrels, an aggregation of 25 funny colored folks, which appears at Holland's Opera House Friday night, Jan. 5.

Their band, which gives a daily street parade, is said to be the finest of any show traveling and is headed by America's greatest colored cornetist, Prof. P. G. Lowery. He has twice appeared before the crowned heads of Europe and is now the proud possessor of a beautiful golden cornet which was presented to him on one of his recent trips abroad.

Their six funny end men are at the top of their profession and the musical and dancing numbers are of an unusually high standard. This will not be an imitation but a high class, genuine, real negro minstrel show.

Mr. Elijah Craven of Herran, Ill., is here on a visit to his son, Herbert Craven, of Thompsonville.
